

A Bar Chart of Attitudes Toward Education Spending in the General Social Survey (2018)

A clear majority (median and mode) of Americans think we are spending too little on improving the American education system in 2018.

*Data: General Social Survey (2018).
Prompt: "We are faced with many problems in this country, none of which can be solved easily or inexpensively. I'm going to name some of these problems, and for each one I'd like you to name some of these problems, and for each one I'd like you to tell me whether you think we're spending too much money on it, too little money, or about the right amount."*